Mission Statement

The University of Maryland is the flagship of the state's higher education system and a prestigious public research university, known for academic excellence in undergraduate and graduate education. The faculty is at the leading edge of scientific, technological, intellectual, and artistic discovery, while remaining focused on teaching. Providing the broadest range of highly challenging programs for the most talented students, the University of Maryland's state-of-the-art facilities and diverse campus community offer an ideal educational atmosphere and a location connecting faculty and students to unlimited resources for scholarly exploration and practical experience. The university also serves the state and region through application of research and expertise to address societal issues and promote economic growth.

2001 Outlook

A new season and the hiring of head coach Terry Rupp have renewed optimism and enthusiasm for the University of Maryland baseball program. Rupp brings impressive credentials to the Terps, including a 1998 national championship and national coach of the year honors at the University of Tampa.

Entering the 2001 season, all signs point to the beginnings of a turnaround in College Park, with 13 letterwinners being joined by a group of talented newcomers.

"Baseball is a funny game," commented Rupp. "If you prepare hard and get a group of guys with good character and teamwork, I have seen tremendous things happen."

Pitching

A mix of youth and veterans will take the rubber for Maryland this season. Leading the way is sophomore right-hander Steve Schmoll. A player who tried out and walked onto the team last season, Schmoll finished the year with five wins, which is the most for a returning pitcher on this year's staff. "Steve showed some good flashes during the fall," said Rupp.

After Schmoll, senior Mark Martin will key a powerful 1-2 punch in the starting rotation. The Virginia native has the size and stuff to be successful in his final year in College Park and Rupp feels he will be a reliable starter during the season. In his first year in the competitive ACC, Martin fanned 50 batters and won two games for the Terps. "Mark started plenty of games for us last season and he should be well adjusted to the ACC in his second season in the conference."

Three sophomores will fight for the No. 3 spot in the rotation: Mike Dallmeyer, Brad Lyons and Jared Stuart. Stuart won three games for the Terrapins last season while Dallmeyer picked up one victory. "Brad and Jared showed some good signs in the fall and Mike really came on strong toward the end of the fall campaign," added Rupp.

A wildcard who could boost the Terrapin rotation is redshirt sophomore Todd Ainsworth. The Pennsylvania native had offseason Tommy John surgery and could be in the mix come conference time. "If Todd can come back, it will have a major impact on the whole pitching staff," commented Rupp.

In the bullpen, a pair of middle infielders will be in the mix for the closer spot. Senior Sean Lomas and sophomore John McCurdy both possess live arms and have good stuff. Junior catcher Ken Beck has also been given some time on the mound and was impressive during the fall campaign. The local product from Laurel has adapted a down-under throwing style and should be very effective against right-handers.

Chuck Easter

Other candidates who will see time include sophomore Matt Basinger and freshman Eric D'Allessandro. Basinger posted three wins last season in his first campaign in College Park.

Infield

One position that the Terrapins look to be set on is at first base with senior Chuck Easter. A slick fielder with a solid bat, Easter has been the Terps' starter at first for the past two seasons. As a junior, Easter batted .305 with 13 doubles and 30 RBI. "Chuck has very good tools and is a solid player," added Rupp. "He performs well in every aspect of the game and he is a guy who isn't going to make many mistakes."

At the middle infield positions of shortstop and second base, two players are fighting it out at each spot. Sean Lomas and John McCurdy are both vying for the starting nods. Lomas started last season at short and led all ACC shortstops in fielding percentage. McCurdy saw limited action starting seven games while batting .256 with one homer and seven RBI.

The race for second could come down to either Lomas or McCurdy along with junior Mike D'Archangelo. The Annapolis native missed the entire 2000 season with a back injury but is primed for an excellent 2001 campaign. In 1999, D'Archangelo saw action in 41 games and hit .242 for the season. "Mike has just as good a chance as anyone else to start at second," commented Rupp.

Senior Steve Oursler is slated to start for the Terps at the hot corner. The Clinton, Md., native is the leading returning hitter for Maryland after his .340 average at the plate last year. "Oursler has done a great job in the fall. He has worked hard on his fielding and he has become very good with the glove," said Rupp.

Junior Ray Gemmill brings a steady bat to the position and could also see time at third. "Ray has shown some very good things this fall at the plate," added Rupp.

One player who can fill any of the infield positions is freshman Anthony Buffone. A jack of all trades, the rookie spent time during the fall season at third, second, first and catcher. "He is our mini Jim Leyritz," said Rupp. "He is going to be asked to do a lot of things for us this season."

Behind the plate, junior Kevin McDonald will once again be the Terps' starter for the second consecutive year. The New Jersey native batted .293 in 48 starts last year behind the dish. "Kevin had the best fall season of any catcher we have," said Rupp. Junior Preston Taylor also gives the Terrapins another option behind the dish. "We were very pleased with how Preston caught behind the plate in the fall," commented Rupp.

Outfield

Plenty of talent and experience returns in the outfield this season for the Terps. Senior Brian Patenaude, juniors Matt Swope and Tony Jackson and redshirt sophomore Daryl Whitmer, bring a mix of power, speed and athleticism.

In left, Patenaude has displayed leadership and intensity to the lineup along with a potent bat. The Georgia native batted .313 last season with 33 RBI and will be relied on again to produce at the plate. "Brian had an outstanding fall campaign," said Rupp.

The centerfield spot looks to be held by Swope, a speedster who can cover plenty of ground while also wreaking havoc on the basepaths. "Matt had a great fall in center field. He hit the ball well and he played well defensively," commented Rupp. Swope batted .316 with a team-high 14 steals last year and should improve on those numbers in 2001.

The two-sport connection comes into play at right field, with Jackson and Whitmer, both vying for the spot. Both athletes play football for the Terps in the fall. Jackson has all five tools needed to be successful but will need to just put it together after returning to the diamond after missing all of fall practice. Whitmer brings a strong arm, great wheels and a steady bat to the Terrapin lineup.

Along with Jackson and Whitmer, two transfers will also be in the mix for a spot in the outfield. Junior Matt Haynes along with sophomore Edwin Thompson have been two bright spots for the Terps and should see time in the outfield or as designated hitter.

With a young club and a new coaching staff, excitement is rampant throughout the baseball program. Playing in the ACC, the competition is second to none, with five teams making the NCAA Tournament last season and two schools advancing to the College World Series. Still, the 2001 Terrapins should be an improved ballclub that will be one to watch as the season rolls along.

"We will need some players to step up and produce in several roles for us to be successful this season. We will just need to go out and play hard and I think we will be fine," added Rupp.

Head Coach
Terry Rupp

35

First Season at Maryland
Sixth season overall • Tampa '88

Terry Rupp takes the helm of the Maryland baseball program after being named the school's fifth head coach last August. A native of Fairfax, Va., Rupp is one of the most talented young coaches in America and has been chosen to lead Maryland back to the top of the ACC ranks. With over 200 victories and a national title in just five seasons at Tampa, Rupp has clearly established himself as a coach who can take a program to the next level.

The late '60s and '70s saw Maryland consistently contending for the ACC title, winning three during that time span and also making the school's only three trips to the NCAA Tournament. Hard work and being prepared to win will be essential components Rupp will key on to lead the Terrapins in 2001.

"My basic belief is that a team must prepare itself before it goes into competition," commented the new Terrapin skipper. "Preparation is the key. When we are on the diamond, our team is going to go out and come after people." The hard-nosed style of play should be noticeable from the way the team hustles on the basepaths to going all out in the field. "We are going to play hard for nine innings and let other programs know that we are here to play," said Rupp.

Rupp, 34, led Tampa to a 215-80 (.729) record in five years as head coach, including four 40-win seasons. Rupp guided Tampa to the 1998 national championship with an impressive 46-14 record. The national title was the third in Spartan history. In 2000, his team was ranked No. 2 in the NCAA Division II poll heading into postseason play. His Tampa teams posted a 15-5 cumulative record against Division I opposition, including wins over Miami, Oral Roberts, Southwestern Louisiana and Army.

One of the strengths that Rupp brings to College Park is the ability to recruit and develop talent. Under his tutelage, eight of his Tampa players have been selected in the past five amateur baseball drafts.

Rupp Year-by-Year at Tampa

Year	W-L	Award	Final Rank
1996	45-16	South Region Coach of the Year	Fifth
1997	46-16	Sunshine Conference and South Region Coach of the Year	Third
1998	46-14	NCAA, Sunshine Conference and South Region Coach of the Year	National Champions
1999	33-22
2000	45-12
Total	215-80	.712 win percentage
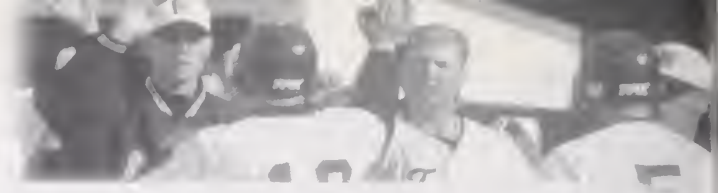
		Three coach of the year honors
		One national championship
		Three top five rankings



Three players were taken in the first nine rounds of the 2000 draft, giving Tampa more early draftees than any other college baseball team in the state of Florida.

Rupp is a graduate of the University of Tampa where he earned a bachelor of science degree in marketing. At Tampa, he was a two-time All-South Regional baseball selection who played on teams that made a pair of national championship appearances. He was a teammate of Yankees' first baseman Tino Martinez. He also was a two-time all-conference selection in basketball and a two-time conference all-academic selection. As a prep, he was a Parade and McDonald's All-American in basketball after helping lead Jesuit High of Tampa to the class 3A state championship. In 1989, he was voted into the Jesuit High School Athletic Hall of Fame.

Rupp was a 16th-round draft choice of the San Diego Padres in 1989 and played two seasons in the Padres' minor league organization. From 1993-95 he was a minor league coach for Oneonta of the New York Yankees organization in the New York-Penn League.

With the coaching experience he learned within the Yankee organization, Rupp took those core principles and transformed Tampa into one of the best teams in Division II baseball. Those same beliefs will be used again in College Park to rejuvenate the Terps' baseball program.

Coaching Staff

Assistant Coach/ Recruiting Coordinator Gregg Kilby

42

First Season at Maryland
Southern Wesleyan '91

Gregg Kilby, who coached Lynn University in their first four seasons of NCAA play, begins his first season as assistant coach and recruiting coordinator of the Terps. His Lynn teams recorded a 6-4-1 record versus Division I programs including a hard-fought 5-4 loss to defending national champion Miami last season.

Kilby led Lynn to a 103-108-1 record in four seasons as head coach. While at Lynn, his team led the nation in double plays in 1999 and was consistently ranked over the past four years. Kilby's teams also did well off the field as they had a team grade point average over 3.0 during his tenure.

Kilby is a 1991 graduate of Southern Wesleyan University. He lettered three seasons at Southern Wesleyan and was named team co-captain and all-district in 1991. Kilby began his coaching career on the collegiate level in 1993 at Clemson University as an assistant for two seasons. Following his stay with the Tigers, Kilby served as the assistant at the University of Nevada for the 1996 season. He and his wife Annie were married in December 2000.

Pitching Coach Ben Bachmann

First Season at Maryland
Lewis '97

Ben Bachmann begins his first year as pitching coach for the Terrapins. Bachmann led the Lynn pitching staff to a school record 379 strikeouts in 1999 and helped lower the team ERA by nearly four runs a game since taking over in 1998.

Bachmann joins head coach Terry Rupp and assistant coach Gregg Kilby on the new Terrapin baseball staff. He coached with Kilby the past two seasons at Lynn University. Last season, he coached a pitching staff that recorded a 4.36 ERA and totaled 362 strikeouts.

Bachmann is a 1997 graduate of Lewis University in business administration. He was a tri-captain during his two seasons as a player for the Flyers. He also was named academic all-conference at Lewis and he earned his master's degree in Business Adminstration from Lynn in 2000.

Prior to Lewis, Bachmann was an All-American at Kankakee CC in Illinois. The Michigan City, Ind., native was a first-team all-region selection as a sophomore and was third in the nation as a freshman in ERA for Kankakee.

Leading the Way into the 21st Century

- A Carnegie Research-I University
- Member, Assoc. of American Universities (AAU)
- Flagship of the University System of Maryland
- NCAA Division I Athletics

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Twelve years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

University of Maryland

The Campus

The University of Maryland, College Park, is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 88 master's programs and 69 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities. It is classified as a Research-I university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, Maryland ranks among the top in percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-Americans and other minority members among its peers.

Flagship Status

In 1988, the University of Maryland, College Park, was designated as the flagship institution for the University System of Maryland. As well as pursuing a serious research mission and continuing its high level of service to the state, the university rededicated itself to providing the highest quality graduate and undergraduate education. Increased undergraduate opportunities for research and individual study; the development of the College Park Scholars Program and the expansion of the University Honors Program; the genesis of Honors Humanities and Gemstone; the creation of CORE, the general education program; and the establishment of the Center for Teaching Excellence all affirmed the legislature's designation of flagship.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

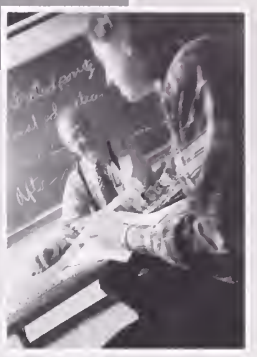
With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The University of Maryland features a diversity of cultural and recreational activities. Four art galleries, more than 200 annual musical performances and countless dance and theater productions, expose audiences to the broadest range of programs in the arts. And intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

A Wired World

Students at the University of Maryland are part of an academic community that enjoys free access to networked computer resources and facilities that are among the best in the country. Free computer accounts enable users to store class work on a networked server, download classroom support materials and other electronic information from campus networked resources.



President C.D. Mote, Jr.

C.D. (Dan) Mote Jr. took office as president in September 1998 with a clear vision for taking the University of Maryland down the home stretch to its destiny as one of America's great research universities.

Mote came to Maryland from the University of California at Berkeley, where he had earned all of his degrees, and where he had served in faculty and administration more than 30 years. He had most recently been vice chancellor for university relations.

In Maryland, he found a university already well on its way to achieving the greatness envisioned when the General Assembly declared it the flagship institution of the University System of Maryland. Mote immediately took a leadership role on the Governor's Task Force on Governance, Coordination and Funding of the University System of Maryland to gain greater autonomy and flexibility for the university to pursue its goals. He followed that by working closely with state leaders to boost university funding for new programs, scholarships and faculty, gaining 10 percent appropriations increases in each of his first two years.

Mote spelled out in his inauguration address his vision of Maryland as a great research university, where teaching and research are "inseparable." In this plan, the faculty creates a culture of excellence that permeates the university, student success is the center of all activity, and the extended Maryland family of alumni and friends grows rich in pride and tradition.

High achievement has been Dan Mote's life, from his student days at the University of California through his years as an outstanding teacher and world-renowned researcher and his leadership of a highly successful capital campaign at Berkeley.

By the end of Mote's second year at Maryland, the university's ongoing capital campaign, Bold Vision • Bright Future, had raised nearly $300 million of a $350 million goal, including such landmark donations as Clarice Smith's $15 million for the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center and Comcast Corporation's $25 million for the Comcast Center. But Mote has said repeatedly that development and capital campaigns are not principally about raising money.

"They are about the university building relationships, with its alumni and friends of the university through the quality people and quality programs on campus. If we succeed in building authentic relationships, fund-raising happens as easily as the women's lacrosse team scores a goal."

Mote and his wife Patsy live in the President's Residence on the College Park campus. They have two grown children and four grandchildren.

University of Maryland
Maryland TERRAPINS

Among The Nation's Best

This is Maryland Athletics

At the University of Maryland, winning is not taken lightly. Like the rich history of all its sports programs, championships are a tradition.

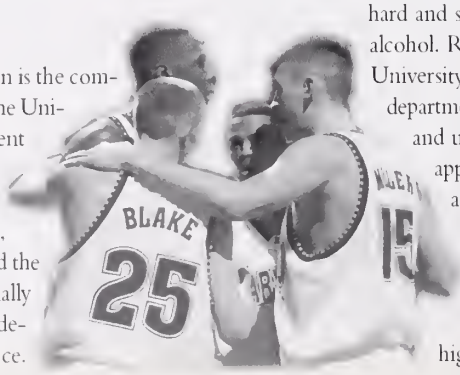
Since the 1950s, Maryland has established itself as one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. This type of success is no accident; it has been built year-by-year on the achievements of outstanding young men and women who were given the opportunity to excel both on and off the field of play. The victories, the championships and the national acclaim are all ingredients of the Maryland athletic program. Student-athletes who attend Maryland are part of a program and a university which thrives on tradition and excellence.

Academic Excellence

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty and alumni to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletic program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body. Since 1983, 88 percent of freshmen scholarship athletes who completed their eligibility at the University of Maryland earned their degrees.

Goals



The great thing about being a Terrapin is the commitment to hard work and dedication. At the University of Maryland, the athletic department is dedicated to supporting a well-balanced Division I program. Athletic director Deborah A. Yow and her dedicated coaches, administrators and staff have re-engineered the department into a responsive and financially sound model — with a clear vision and a determined drive toward national prominence.

Athletic Success

National championships, conference championships, national rankings and postseason play are all a part of the University of Maryland experience. The University of Maryland has established itself as one of the nation's elite athletic programs. The Terrapins have won 15 national championships, including a record six consecutive by the women's lacrosse team. The Terrapins had plenty of reason to celebrate when it came to intercollegiate athletics in 1999-2000, with another finish among the top 15 percent of all schools in the Sears Directors' Cup, which measures the overall athletic achievement in men's and women's sports.

Competition

Wearing the Maryland uniform means playing in front of some of the loudest and most supportive fans in the nation. It means playing against the best teams in the country, in the most prestigious conference in the country, the ACC. It means wearing the school colors with pride. It means doing your best in athletics and academics. It is a unique and special feeling being a Terrapin.

Athletes in the Community

From the media spotlight to the community spotlight, Terrapin student-athletes strengthen the ties of the local community by serving as role models. Community service is a key part of the Terrapins' agenda. Student-athletes support many community programs which help to enrich the lives of Maryland youth while teaching the importance of studying hard and saying "no" to drugs and alcohol. Representatives from the University of Maryland athletic department speak to participants and use their image and the appeal of sports to encourage Maryland children to stay in school, improve their reading and writing skills, and to receive their high school diplomas.

Athletic Director Deborah A. Yow

Dr. Deborah A. Yow is in the seventh year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland … a year in which she also has assumed the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, an organization with a membership of more than 6,100 athletic administrators representing 1,600 colleges and universities in North America and Mexico.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony to her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability. Likewise, her election to the presidency of NACDA is an indication of the respect with which Dr. Yow is regarded in intercollegiate athletics and education in the U.S. and Canada.

In October 2000, Yow was named Female Sports Executive of the Year by the editors of Street & Smith's SportsBusiness Journal.

Also as a member of the NCAA Management Council and NCAA Division I Budget Committee, Yow presents a strong voice for excellence and integrity at the highest levels of intercollegiate athletics. In these national roles she has represented the University of Maryland and the Atlantic Coast Conference with a balanced and proactive voice.

Since taking over at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all six of the nearly $30 million annual budgets (the first balanced budgets for the Terrapins in 10 years prior to her arrival).
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided to student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of nearly 90 percent during her tenure.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Reorganized and upgraded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 135% and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 270% during her tenure at Maryland.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Paid off approximately $7 million in operating debt accrued before her arrival in 1994.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fundraising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

National Successes

The Terps enjoyed across-the-board success in 1999-2000, with the following varsity programs earning Top 30 rankings at one time or another during their respective seasons of competition, and two teams capturing national championships (field hockey, women's lacrosse).

Basketball (Men's)
Football
Lacrosse (Men's)
Lacrosse (Women's)
Field Hockey
Golf
Gymnastics
Indoor Track (Women's)
Outdoor Track (Women's)
Soccer (Men's)
Soccer (Women's)

The 1999 championship field hockey team

Maryland athletic director Deborah A. Yow took over as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in July 2000.

The Maryland Department of Athletics has made remarkable progress under Yow's leadership. Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past six years, Dr. Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied … our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently … we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools … to work hard and work smart … to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves." As a manager and leader, she clearly models these principles. In 1999, she was singled out by Street & Smith's SportsBusiness Journal as one of the leading athletic administrators in the U.S.

A former basketball coach, she began her coaching career at the high school level in North Carolina before taking over as head women's coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also achieved an outstanding coaching record as head coach at the University of Florida. She later moved into athletic administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as A.D. at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics, management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Terrapin athletic program, Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our successes … and the basis for our bright future."

Kathleen Worthington

Associate A.D./Internal Operations

Kathleen Worthington was named associate athletic director for internal operations in May 1999. She came to Maryland from Morehead State University, where she had served as associate A.D. since February 1998 after spending two years as an assistant athletic director.

At Maryland, Worthington is responsible for supervision of baseball, volleyball, women's basketball, women's gymnastics, men's and women's track, and men's and women's cross country. She also oversees the sports medicine and strength and conditioning units in addition to managing ACC and NCAA tournaments hosted by the university.

During her time at Morehead State, her primary focus was business operations, compliance, policy development, and strategic planning. Prior to Morehead State, Worthington spent two years as the assistant to the AD at the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

She also has served as a marketing and media relations specialist and as director of athletics and community youth programs for Catholic Charities, Eastern Region, in New York state.

She earned her bachelor's degree in mass communications from the College of Notre Dame in Maryland in 1985. She earned a master's degree in public relations from Syracuse and a master's in athletics administration from Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

She was inducted into College of Notre Dame's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1997 and in 1999 was named an NCAA Leadership Fellow. In 1996, she earned the graduate student achievement award from UW-LaCrosse.

Academic Support & Career Development

The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics is committed to the academic success and career development of student athletes. In support of this commitment the department sponsors the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU).

Mission

The mission of the unit is (1) to provide quality developmental programs and need based services that will enhance the opportunity to earn an undergraduate degree, (2) offer career development opportunities and (3) support the psychosocial growth of student athletes through special initiatives.

Staff

Don Pearman

Nine full-time professionals, two graduate assistants, tutorial support staff and student associates comprise the unit's workforce. Assistant Director Don Pearman serves as the ASCDU liasion with the baseball team.

ASCDU & The University

Primary academic advising is provided by professional advisors assigned to each student athlete by his or her home college, school or department. The ASCDU counselors serve as an important support network that coordinates and implements transitional and developmental programs to address the academic and career development needs of student athletes. In cooperation with the Office of Records and Registration, ASCDU monitors academic progress of student athletes to assure that NCAA, ACC, and University rules and regulations are met.

Location

The primary ASCDU unit is conveniently located on the ground floor of Cole Field House where student athletes have access to various resources and services. Each academic counselor has private office space in order to insure meeting privacy. A study table room is staffed by proctors and arranged to maximize student focus and concentration. The facility also houses a tutorial room devoted to servicing the learning needs of student athletes. The staff maintains two computer resource laboratories with a total of 40 personal computers containing up-to-date software packages. In addition, ASCDU coordinates a laptop computer service that provides each team access to laptop computers while traveling to away competitions.

There is also a satellite computer room in the Gossett Football Team House. Three of the nine ASCDU professionals are currently housed in the building.

The Future

In the summer of 2002, the $124 million Comcast Center will become the new home of the ASCDU unit. A 7,000 square foot wing has been developed to replace the current space in Cole Field House. The new home of ASCDU will be conveniently located on the floor where offices of coaches for 20 sports will also be placed. The close proximity was designed to facilitate communication among ASCDU staff, coaches and student athletes. The satellite computer lab in the Gossett Football Team House will continue to operate. In addition, a building addition of an auditorium which will seat 140 is currently planned for the Gossett Football Team House. That space will be available for use by the entire athletic program, including ASCDU.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Prospective student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Mentor program
- EDCP 108-J (Career decision making and planning)
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-O (First-year transitions to the university)

Strength & Conditioning

Corliss White

In the highly competitive collegiate baseball world the off-the-field preparation of the student-athlete is a critical component to the on-the-field success of any Division I program. Dwight Galt, Maryland's director of strength and conditioning and Corliss White who works with the baseball team, believes strongly that a solid off-field training program can dramatically improve levels of performance, as well as significantly reduce the chance of injury. The benefit of performing structured strength and power training throughout the entire year has allowed the Terps to reach new levels in physical development.

At the University of Maryland, the maximal development of athleticism is the primary goal of the strength and conditioning program. To accomplish this requires more than just strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, agility, flexibility, conditioning, plyometrics, and nutrition also play critical roles. The Terps' strength staff places substantial emphasis on all these areas, with special attention on the improvement of speed potential. Galt and his staff employ a wide range of state-of-the-art training methods to assist in enhancing all aspects of speed development.

The Terps are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the nation. Conveniently located in the Gossett Team House, this facility has excellent aesthetic appeal, with two magnificent skylights and large windows overlooking the field at Byrd Stadium. The Terps' spacious weight room includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices that are easily accessible to the training floor.

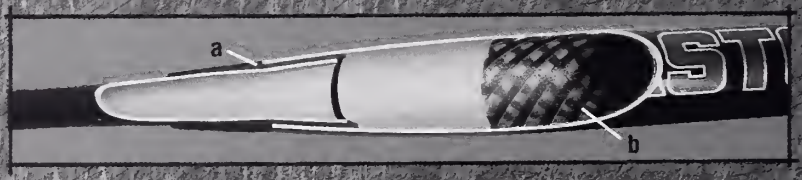
NEW RULES. SAME RULER.

EASTON
EASTONSPORTS.COM

COLLEGE AND HIGH SCHOOL RULES MAY CHANGE, BUT ONE THING REMAINS THE SAME: EASTON MAKES THE BEST BATS IN THE WORLD.

BT2-Z CONNEXION Z-CORE

Our latest example? The brand new ConneXion™ Z-Core™ With super-thin, Scandium-enhanced Sc500™ alloy walls plus our patented Focus Flex™ design, you get the best performance and the largest sweet spot in the game. The ConneXion™ Revolutionary technology for players with one goal in mind: winning.



Easton's patented design uses an elastomer connector (a) to mechanically interlock the handle to the barrel for the widest sweet spot and no vibration.
In the ConneXion™ Z-Core™ high strain graphite layers (b) are bonded at 45° angles for more flex, more responsiveness and greater performance than ever.

ASHURST

Effective January 1, 2005, all high school baseball bats will be limited to a 2.5/8" maximum barrel diameter and a -3 oz. weight-to-length ratio. These are the same specifications that were recently adopted by the NCAA.
